Mysuru, Aug. 1 (BLU&DM)- The Defence Research and Development Organisation (DRDO), the premier R&D organisation of the country, is currently working on the manufacture of pilotless aircraft, said Dr. Tessy Thomas, Distinguished Scientist, Former Director-General of Aeronautical Systems, DRDO and Project Director for Agni IV Missile and Agni V Mission, Government of India.

Delivering the Sardar Panikkar Memorial Lecture as part of the 61st Foundation Day celebrations of Regional Institute of Education (RIE), Mysuru, at the Assembly Hall in the Institute premises in Manasagangothri here this morning, she stressed on the importance of carrying out extensive studies and research for making further advancements in aeronautics sector and other allied fields.

"The weight of Agni I, II and III was 50 tonnes which curtailed the speed of the missiles in the orbit. But continuous research helped us in bringing down the weight of Agni IV Missile to 22 tonnes, that resulted in a considerable increase of speed and sharpness of the missile. The use of latest technology to the hilt was responsible for this, which underlines the need for carrying out extensive research," Dr. Tessy Thomas said.

Interestingly, seeing the large presence of Police on the road near Manipal Hospital Junction towards Bengaluru, many two-wheelers and autos thought that the Police had begun levying fines for traffic violations. Bikes (with helmet-less riders) tried to take a U-turn right in the middle of the road and at the Circle.

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

Orison Swett Marden, an American inspirational author, places three important suggestions before young men and women who are embarking on a new career and aspiring to make it big in life.

First, never look upon your occupation as drudgery.

Secondly, never shrink from responsibility.

Thirdly, make character your biggest asset. Youngsters who start their careers with a firm resolve to make character their biggest capital, and to pledge their total commitment to every obligation they enter into, will never be a failure, though fortune in terms of money might elude them at times. No man who loses his character ever really rises to great heights.

Those who take recourse to dishonest ways to further their career prospects, will be constantly haunted by their conscience that keeps telling them, 'You know you are a fraud, you are not the man you pretend to be.' The consciousness of not being genuine, not being what others think you to be, shatters one's self-respect and self-confidence.

Marden thus advises young people not to stay in a questionable occupation, no matter what inducement it offers. It is indeed demoralising to the mental faculties to do something that does not have the approval of one's conscience.

There is a higher meaning, something deeper and nobler in a vocation than making a living. The part of our life-work which gives us a living, which provides the bread and butter, is merely incidental to the great disciplinary educative phase of it — the self-unfoldment. "It is a question of how large and how grand a man or woman you can bring out of your vocation, not how much money there is in it."

The boxes bore Smith's address, but the name Lixiao Zhang, a name Smith said she had never heard before.

Amazon officials said they looked into both incidents, and discovered both Smith and Geltman's packages were the result of vendors having packages shipped to random addresses in order to remove unsold merchandise from Amazon fulfillment centers.

Anikethana Road, a nightmare for pedestrians in the evening

Sir,

Come evening hours, the stretch of Anikethana Road in Kuvempunagar from Cauvery College to Gnanaganga School turns into a nightmare for pedestrians.

The huge number of students attending the nearby Coaching Centre and the customers of the popular Gobi Centre together park their two-wheelers and cars on BOTH sides of the road dangerously and haphazardly.

The footpath on one side is too narrow and is, in any case, completely broken up and unusable while the relatively wider footpath on the other side is hogged by the Gobi Centre and many other eating joints doing business there.

The pedestrian has therefore to negotiate his way through whatever little space is left on the road by the parked vehicles. This is dangerous and unacceptable.

This has been going on for a long time now and I am shocked how our Corporator hasn't done anything to remedy things. There should be a complete ban on car parking during evening hours and the two-wheelers should be allowed to park only on one side (opposite to the Gobi Centre) so that the crowding of customers along with their parked vehicles do not monopolise road space completely.

Meanwhile, would it be asking too much of our Corporator to get the footpaths repaired and make them pedestrian-friendly?

28-year-old youth's vital organs save five lives

Rakesh

Mysuru, Aug. 1- A devastating incident took a hopeful turn as the family of H.R. Rakesh, a 28-year-old youth from Gundlupet, displayed tremendous courage and compassion by donating his organs after he was declared brain dead due to a brain stem infarct at Apollo BGS Hospitals, Mysuru.

Rakesh was wheeled in on July 24 in a critical state, suffering from giddiness. A swift initial CT scan revealed a brain stem infarct, prompting immediate transfer to the Intensive Care Unit (ICU) for life support and intensive care.

Despite the hospital's best efforts, Rakesh's condition remained extremely critical over the next four days while he was on life support. On the fifth day, July 29, he was declared brain dead due to brain stem failure, in accordance with the hospital protocol and the Transplant of Human Organs Act of 1994.

Before the incident, Rakesh had been in good health, and further tests confirmed his eligibility for organ donation. Following the defined protocols, Rakesh's family was counselled for organ donation, and they willingly came forward to support the noble cause.

The organ donation process was initiated by officials from Jeeva Sarthakathe (formerly known as ZCCK). At approximately 11.30 pm on July 30, Rakesh's organs, including two kidneys, one liver, heart valves, and corneas, were harvested.

The donated organs were allocated to different hospitals for transplant surgeries. One kidney was donated to Apollo BGS Hospitals while the other went to JSS Hospital. The liver was allocated to Apollo BGS Hospitals and the heart valves were sent to Narayana Hrudayalaya, Bengaluru. Corneas found their way to K.R. Hospital, Mysuru.

Meaningful and Grand Dasara this year: CM Siddharamaiah

To be a cost-effective celebration; plans afoot to host air show; tableaux of five guarantee schemes

Bengaluru, Aug. 1 (KMS& BCT)- Chief Minister Siddharamaiah announced that the Government is all set to organise this year's Mysuru Dasara 'Nada Habba' from Oct. 15 to 24 in a more meaningful and grand manner that will be a memorable and a convenient experience to the masses. Speaking to reporters at the conference hall of Vidhana Soudha in Bengaluru last evening after the High-Power Committee meeting specifically focused on planning the upcoming Dasara celebrations, Siddharamaiah said that funds will not be a constraint for a grand and meaningful Dasara.

The CM, however, asked the elected representatives and the officers not to splurge money unnecessarily. Last year, Rs. 33 crore was spent on the festivities, Siddharamaiah added.

"Mysuru Dasara, celebrated as the State festival, has always been a grand affair, showcasing Karnataka's rich cultural heritage and traditions along with the splendid reminiscence of royal pomp and glory. I believe that Dasara should not only be a traditional festival but also transform into a people's festival and this time, funds will not be a problem," he said.

The Dasara Executive Committee will submit a proposal outlining the required funds for the festivities, and the Government will make decisions accordingly. The celebrations will commence with the inauguration ceremony at the Chamundi Hill on Oct. 15 at 10.15 am. "The auspicious time between 10.15 to 10.36 am will be chosen to offer prayers to the presiding deity, Goddess Chamundeshwari. On the same day, the Dasara exhibition will also be inaugurated, adding to the array of attractions available for visitors during the festive period," the CM said. One of the highlights will be the inclusion of an air show this year.

He asked the officers to showcase the State's resources in the exhibition where all the Departments will set up stalls to display their contributions. The festival is renowned for its vibrant light decorations across Mysuru, captivating processions and the famous Jumboo Savari on Oct. 24, featuring a procession of elegantly adorned elephants.

In addition to these attractions, the event will also feature eye-catching tableaux carefully selected to showcase the State's traditions, various districts' unique aspects and the implementation of the Government's five guarantee schemes thereby offering an informative and visually appealing experience for the spectators.

CM Siddharamaiah holding High-Power Committee meeting at the conference hall of Vidhana Soudha in Bengaluru last evening.

Women participation

"This year's festivities will witness a significant participation of women from all over State, thanks to the Shakti scheme, which offers free bus travel to them. With this in mind, adequate arrangements will have to be made to ensure that visitors, including women, do not face any inconvenience during the celebrations," he added.

Other key attractions include torchlight parade, cultural events, film festival, Raita Dasara and Yuva Dasara. These events have always been instrumental in displaying Karnataka's rich cultural heritage through various folk-art forms, attracting a large number of tourists and spectators.

Alongside the traditional practices like Gajapayana (elephants' procession), the event will also feature special lighting arrangements — Deepalankara — which will illuminate the city from the day of Dasara inauguration. The stunning display of lights will continue for an entire week after the culmination of the festivities, creating a magical and festive ambiance, the CM said.

Local talent preference

Siddharamaiah also stressed the importance of promoting local artistes and providing them priority in cultural programmes. "Promoting local talent and culture is crucial and preference must be given to local artistes in all performances during the celebrations. College students will be provided ample opportunities to showcase their talents during Yuva Dasara," he said.

On the proposed air show, the CM said that he will discuss this with Defence Minister Rajnath Singh. In line with usual practice, Dasara will also be organised in Srirangapatna and Chamarajanagar, ensuring that the celebrations spread beyond Mysuru and extend to other regions.

"Ensure that Dasara remains grand but cost-effective. With well-thought-out plans and arrangements, this year's festival must be a memorable and joyous celebration, cherished by both locals and tourists alike," he added.

Deputy CM D.K. Shivakumar, Chief Secretary to Government of Karnataka Vandita Sharma, District Minister Dr. H.C. Mahadevappa, Mysuru Mayor Shivakumar, Mysuru DC Dr. K.V. Rajendra, Mysuru City Police Commissioner B. Ramesh, Political Secretary to Chief Minister K. Govindaraj and others attended the meeting.

Inaugural guest: Suttur Seer ideal choice, says MLA Srivatsa

Dasara procession must not be a political rally, opines MLA G.T. Devegowda

Bengaluru, Aug. 1 (KMS& BCT)- Chief Minister Siddharamaiah has been authorised by the Dasara High-Powered Committee to choose the chief guest for the Dasara inauguration and the CM's assurance that he will be personally involved in the selection process.

At the meeting, Krishnaraja MLA T.S. Srivatsa asked the CM to consider the name of Suttur Seer Sri Shivarathri Deshikendra Swamiji to inaugurate the festivities considering the Seer's wide social service that extends in various fields like education, food, culture and art.

However, sources said that the meeting did not discuss any names of the guests who will do the inaugural honours. "I will discuss with people and decide on the guest's name," the CM said.

Speaking at the meeting, Chamundeshwari MLA G.T. Devegowda (GTD) said that as lakhs of people from both within the country and abroad will gather to witness this grand procession, the confusion and last-minute lapses must be avoided this time.

The event will also witness the presence of Supreme Court and High Court Judges, as well as the Governor, among other prominent personalities. As a result, extra care should be taken to ensure the smooth conduct of the Jumboo Savari, he noted.

There should be no disturbances or disruptions during the procession and the cultural events should be well-organised to ensure smooth execution and provide a delightful experience to the people. "During my tenure as the District Minister, I did not give opportunities to party leaders or workers to participate in the procession. It must not be a political rally," GTD said.

The procession must be filled with genuine devotees and there must not be any unpleasant incidents, he added.

Preparing for Lok Sabha Elections 2024

First-Level Checking of voting machines begins

New machines brought to Mysuru as High Court hears plea challenging Varuna Assembly result

Mysuru, Aug. 1 (RK&BCT)- The First-Level Checking (FLC) of the 1,500 new Electronic Voting Machines (EVMs) and Voter Verifiable Paper Audit Trail (VVPAT) machines that were brought to the city recently from Electronics Corporation of India Limited (ECIL), Hyderabad, began this morning at the EVM Warehouse near the Office of the Deputy Commissioner at Siddarthanagar.

The machines will be used in the forthcoming Lok Sabha elections along with the machines that have already been used in the last Assembly elections except the Varuna Constituency the result of which has reached the High Court of Karnataka.

Over 50 engineers from the ECIL and Bharath Electronics Limited in Bengaluru have come to Mysuru and the FLC is being carried out in two halls at the warehouse. While the process in one hall is supervised by MUDA Commissioner G.T. Dinesh Kumar, who is also the Nodal Officer for EVMs and VVPATs, the other hall is monitored by Additional Deputy Commissioner Kavitha Rajaram.

FLC is a critical process in the preparation and verification of the EVMs and VVPATs before their deployment in elections. FLC ensures that the EVMs and VVPATs are functioning correctly, accurately recording votes, and providing a transparent and trustworthy voting process.

Engineers are verifying and certifying that the EVMs and VVPATs are free from any defects, manipulations or malfunctions and are capable of recording votes accurately. During FLC, the EVMs and VVPATs are physically examined to ensure they are in proper working condition.

Once the First-Level Checking is completed and the machines are found to be functioning correctly, they are certified as 'fit for use' by the Election Commission or the authorised officials. They are categorised and numbered till the next level of checking, randomisation and the insertion of candidate details.

Stringent security measures

Throughout the FLC process, stringent security measures are in place to prevent any tampering or unauthorised access to the EVMs and VVPATs. Only authorised personnel are allowed to handle the machines and the entry is restricted to the personnel. Before entering the FLC halls, the staff have to deposit their phones.

Sources said that the ECIL and BEL Engineers will complete the process by Aug. 15 and the entire process is being videographed in addition to the deployment of surveillance cameras inside the halls. 9 am to 4 pm has been fixed as the FLC time.

Varuna row

The new EVMs and VVPATs have been brought to Mysuru due to the pending Election Petition (No. 13/2023) in the Karnataka High Court. The petition was filed to set aside the 2023 election of CM Siddharamaiah from Varuna for allegedly indulging in electoral malpractices. The petition filed by K.M. Shankara, a voter from Varuna, will be heard by the High Court on Sept. 1 by Justice S. Sunil Dutt Yadav.

The petitioner prayed the Court to set aside Siddharamaiah's election victory as the CM was allegedly involved in corrupt practices through the implementation of five guarantee schemes to grab power, in violations of various Sections of Representation of People Act.

Police enforce ban on bikes, autos and tractors from today

Deputy Commissioner of Police (Crime and Traffic) S. Jahnavi, who was at the spot, however, told the motorists that they are just creating awareness on the ban on some category vehicles on the Expressway and they need not panic.

The entry ban has been clamped by the National Highways Authority of India (NHAI) from Aug. 1 (today) on six categories of vehicles from using the Expressway. This prohibition has been enforced under the authority granted by Section 35 of The Control of National Highways (Land and Traffic) Act, 2002.

The restrictions are enforced from the two points of the Expressway at Panchamukhi Temple near Kengeri in Bengaluru and the Manipal Hospital Junction (Kempegowda Circle) in Mysuru, one of the meeting points of the Mysuru Ring Road.

The banned vehicles include motorcycles (including scooters and other two-wheelers), three-wheelers (including autorickshaws, e-carts, e-rickshaws), non-motorised vehicles, tractors (with or without trailers), multi-axle hydraulic trailer vehicles and quadri-cycles.

While the Narasimharaja Traffic Police led by Inspector

Suresh Kumar enforced the rule at the Kempegowda Circle, Sub-Inspector Nataraj was enforcing the rule at Kalasthawadi Junction. All the vehicles that have been banned were asked to use the service roads. Suresh Kumar told Star of Mysore that penalties will not be imposed for a few days as this system is new.

"First, we will create awareness among the motorists on the ban as till now, they have been using the Expressway and a sudden clampdown is difficult and will burden the motorists. However, penalties will be imposed in a week or so," he said.

Like in Mysuru, jurisdictional Police in Srirangapatna, Mandya, Maddur, Channapatna, Ramanagara and Bidadi are enforcing the ban in their Police Station limits. DCP Jahnavi visited the entrance of Expressway and supervised the ban enforcement.

Social Activist accuses MCC of silence over illegal structures

Social activist K.V. Bhanu Prashanth addressing a press meet at Pathrakartara Bhavan in city yesterday as others look on.

Mysuru, Aug. 1 (PM&DM)- Accusing the Mysuru City Corporation (MCC) of remaining silent over the issue of illegal structures in the city, social activist K.V. Bhanu Prashanth wondered why the MCC officials were hesitant to take action against errant MCC officials.

Addressing a press meet here yesterday, Bhanu Prashanth said, the officials were letting off the violators of building bye-laws, who were inconveniencing the neighbourhood through unauthorised constructions.

Noting that the inconvenienced house and site owners are knocking on the doors of Courts seeking justice, he alleged that commercial building owners are allowing commercial activities in cellars. Alleging that unauthorised structures are also coming up in parks and the MCC has turned a blind eye to this violation.

"The MCC staff are not taking action against unauthorised structures despite an order issued by the then MCC Commissioner on Sept. 3, 2021. I have a house in Saraswathipuram and my neighbours are constructing houses by violation of building bye-laws," he said adding that he moved the Court seeking justice in 2017, which case is still going on.

Citing a personal example, Bhanu Prashanth said, he complained to the Upa Lokayukta regarding violation by his neighbour, following which 60 percent of the unauthorised structure has been demolished. But then his neighbour succeeded in bringing a stay order from the High Court, he noted.

Another activist Snehamayi Krishna said several activists have submitted a representation to the MCC Commissioner on July 28 seeking legal action against officials who are hand in glove with violators. They would move the High Court if the authorities do not take action in two months, he said.

Continuing, Krishna cited the incident where retired Intelligence Bureau (IB) Officer R.N. Kulkarni had to pay with his life for questioning the unauthorised construction in violation of building bye-law by his neighbour. Though the incident hit national headlines, the MCC seems to be apathetic to the plight of law-abiding citizens. He expressed apprehension that they too may become victims like R.N. Kulkarni one day if the violators are not reigned in and stringent action not taken against them.

Environmentalist Bhanu Mohan, Saraswathipuram residents K. Hemachandra and Subhadrabai, Vidyaranyapuram resident S.R. Murali and others were present at the press meet.

Ahead of T20 Summit delegates' visit on August 2

Officials scramble to keep Srirangapatna Fort clean

Srirangapatna, Aug. 1 (Vinay Karekura&BCT)- Ahead of the scheduled visit of over 200 worldwide delegates attending the ongoing T20 Summit to Srirangapatna, the Mandya District Administration is in a frenzy to ensure cleanliness at the Srirangapatna Fort and other tourist sites.

The delegates are expected to arrive in Srirangapatna on Aug. 2 evening and will tour various attractions, including the Dariya Daulat, Srirangapatna Fort, Sriranganathaswamy Temple and later, head towards Brindavan Gardens in the Krishna Raja Sagar (KRS) Dam.

Given the neglected state of the Fort, urgent efforts are underway to give it a facelift, preventing the delegates from encountering any dirt or filth. Workers, hired by the Taluk Administration and the Town Panchayat, are diligently removing wild growth from the top of the walls and repairing cracks that have formed over the years.

Surprisingly, the walls facing the road are also being scrubbed to present a well-maintained appearance. The western part of the bus stand, where the Obelisk (war memorial) stands, is undergoing a much-needed cleaning after years of neglect.

The Fort, constructed in the 15th century by Dandanayaka Thimmanna Hebbar and later strengthened by Hyder Ali and Tipu Sultan, has suffered from water seepage, leading to chipping away of its layers over time.

Certain sections of the Fort wall, made of stones, have already collapsed, and remnants can be found near the river. Despite the presence of the Office of Archaeological Survey of India on the river island, the Fort's condition has remained largely ignored.

The delegates' itinerary includes visits to various historic spots surrounding the Fort, which boasts two entrances — the Mysuru entrance and the Bengaluru entrance. Among the notable sites are the Mummadi Krishnaraja Wadiyar Janana Mantapa, Vasantha Kola where Maharajas used to bathe, the hanging bridge from the period of Tipu Sultan, Wellesley Bridge, Sriranganathaswamy Temple, Kalyani and Gajendra Moksha Kola.

To complement the efforts, the defunct street lighting system surrounding the Fort and Town Hall is undergoing a facelift with new bulbs. Teams of officers from Mandya and Srirangapatna are conducting regular visits to the tourist places in batches and overseeing the arrangements. The Police and other senior officers are practising cavalcade march and drill to welcome the delegates.

In a meeting at Mandya DC Office yesterday, Deputy Commissioner Dr. Kumar emphasised the importance of making the delegates' visit to Mandya a successful one, especially as India holds the G20 Chair. The delegates are expected to arrive in Srirangapatna in the evening and their final destination will be the Brindavan Gardens, he added.

Dr. Kumar directed the Police to ensure the safety and security of both Indian and foreign delegates. Furthermore, before the guests' arrival at designated places, authorities must thoroughly inspect and ensure cleanliness. Adequate lighting must be provided to enhance their surroundings, and streets need to be properly maintained, he stressed.

Dr. Kumar also suggested that superior cultural troupes be selected to welcome the guests at Dariya Daulat and the KRS Dam and that all delegates should be presented with befitting mementoes as a token of appreciation.

India's tiger count: Bandipur second, Nagarahole third

Jim Corbett National Park in Uttarakhand first with 319 tigers, Bandipur-191, Nagarahole-185

TIGER TRAIL
Bandipur Tiger Reserve	-	191 (150 on camera trap)
Nagarahole Tiger Reserve	-	185 (141 on camera trap)
Biligiriranganatha Tiger Reserve	-	60 (37 on camera trap)
Bhadra Tiger Reserve	-	44 (28 on camera trap)
Kali Tiger Reserve	-	29 (17 on camera trap)

Mysuru, Aug. 1 (MTY&BS)- The latest count of tigers in the All India Tiger Estimation Report-2022 positions Bandipur and Nagarahole Tiger Reserves in the top league among 53 Tiger Reserves in the country, with an increase in the population of these majestic big cats.

According to the census, Bandipur has secured second place in the country and Nagarahole holds third place, after Corbett Tiger Reserve in Uttarakhand, which stands first in terms of the number of tigers.

The survey, conducted once every four years, was last held in the year 2018 when 2,967 tigers were counted. In the latest survey in 2022, as mentioned in the All India Tiger Estimation Report released by Prime Minister Narendra Modi during the Golden Jubilee celebration of Project Tiger at the Convocation Hall of Karnataka State Open University (KSOU) in Mysuru on Apr. 9, a total of 3,167 tigers were counted.

However, the report released by the National Tiger Conservation Authority (NTCA) a couple of days back states that there are 3,682 tigers in the country, making India the focus of global attention for tiger conservation.

Out of the total tiger population in Tiger Reserves in the country, Jim Corbett National Park has 319 tigers, Bandipur, the first tiger reserve in Karnataka, has 191 tigers, Nagarahole has 185 tigers, Mudumalai in Tamil Nadu has 167 tigers, Bandhavgarh in Madhya Pradesh has 165 tigers, and Dudhwa National Park in Uttar Pradesh has 153 tigers.

Meanwhile, Kamlang Wildlife Sanctuary and Tiger Reserve in Arunachal Pradesh and Dampa Tiger Reserve and Sanctuary in Mizoram have reported zero tiger sightings.

Looking at the five Tiger Reserves in Karnataka, Bandipur boasts the highest number of tigers, securing first place. Moreover, Bandipur Tiger Reserve has gained national attention, especially after the visit of PM Narendra Modi.

The successful conservation efforts and effective management have brought laurels to Bandipur, which spans over an area of 1,036 square kilometres comprising three sub-divisions, namely Bandipur, Gundlupet and Hediyala, and 13 ranges, namely Bandipura, Gopalaswamy Hil, Moolehole, Gundlupet, Maddur, Omkar, Kundakere, Hediyala, Nugu, Moleyur, Kalkere, N. Begur, and Gundre.

The Nagarahole Tiger Reserve has also achieved significant recognition, comprising Mysuru and Kodagu districts, with a total of 185 tigers, securing second place in the State and third in the country. Nagarahole spread over an extent of 843 square kilometres, is split into eight ranges, namely Nagarahole, Kallalla, Anechowkur, Hunsur, Veeranahosahalli, Metikuppe, Antharasanthe and D. B. Kuppe.

Being a dense forest area, Nagarahole also boasts of Kabini backwaters and frequent sightings of black leopards and elephant herds, delighting shutterbugs during safaris.

"The tiger census report is released, and 191 tigers are found in Bandipur Tiger Reserve. We are at the forefront due to stringent measures and cooperation of the personnel," said Dr. P. Ramesh Kumar, Director of Bandipur Tiger Reserve.

"Prime Minister Narendra Modi and Union Minister for Forest, Environment, and Climate Change Bhupender Yadav tweeted in appreciation for saving the life of an electrocuted elephant (in Bandipur). Now, Bandipur has earned recognition for the significant achievement made in having the highest number of tigers," he added.

WORD OF THE DAY

Corollary

Pronunciation: KOR-uh-lair-ee.
Meaning: Corollary is a formal word that usually refers to something that naturally follows or results from another thing. It can also be applied to a thing that incidentally or naturally accompanies or parallels something else. In logic, it refers to a proposition inferred immediately from a proved proposition.
Origin: Indeed, the seed of corollary was planted initially by the Latin noun corōlla meaning "small wreath of flowers," which later bloomed into another Latin noun, corōllārium, referring to a garland given as a reward as well as to a gratuity or an unsolicited payment. Just as one tips their server at the conclusion of a meal, you might think of a modern-day corollary as something that naturally follows or accompanies something else in natural course. The formality of corollary is thanks to its formal roots: the word first figured in logical proofs as a term for a proposition that can be inferred immediately from something that's just been proved—the corollary follows logically as a result of the statement before it.

PHRASE OF THE DAY

Curiosity killed the cat

Meaning: The term curiosity killed the cat is an expression that's used as a warning for anyone who is acting excessively curious, as their prying behaviour may lead them to harm.
Origin: The saying curiosity killed the cat highlights the curious aspect of a cat's personality. These creatures have a desire to learn about the new things they see. The curiosity shown by cats likely does not escape the notice of their owners. Yes, those who've owned a cat before have first-hand experience on how curious they can truly be. Cats love investigating newly introduced things in their environment. For example, if you bring home a new piece of furniture and put it in the living room, the cat's curiosity will quickly set in once they see it. First, they'll cautiously approach the furniture, give it a smell, and once they feel comfortable enough, they will probably climb on it. Soon after, your curious cat will probably make that piece of furniture its new napping spot. As the expression goes, curiosity killed the cat. However, how can a cat's desire to learn about things be deadly? It's because a cat's curiosity can lead them to dangerous situations that results in them being killed. Or at least, it can get them into trouble.
